

Following in Darwin's footsteps...

Darwin's Lookouts
“ We've been taking a good look at plants and their parts, and this is what we noticed...”

A large, empty green outline of a pair of glasses, intended for students to write their observations.

Darwin's Thinkers
“ We've been thinking about plants and what they mean to us, and this is what we think...”

A large, empty purple outline of a pair of glasses, intended for students to write their thoughts.

Darwin's Investigators
“ We've been investigating seed dispersal and germination, and here are our results...”

A large, empty orange outline of a pair of glasses, intended for students to write their experimental results.

Darwin's Discoverers
“ We've been finding out about seeds and how plants grow, and this is what we discovered...”

A large, empty blue outline of a pair of glasses, intended for students to write their discoveries.

Darwin's Collectors
“ We've been to different places plants grow in and we've been collecting specimens, and here is what we collected...”

A large, empty red outline of a pair of glasses, intended for students to write about their specimen collections.

Darwin's Plant Detectives
“ We've been trying to solve a mystery. Here's some of the experiments we tried out and this is what we found...”

A large, empty teal outline of a pair of glasses, intended for students to write about their plant mysteries.